

Channel stats verification test

Jed, I wasn't able to extract current subscriber numbers for MrBeast or PewDiePie because every web search query I issued returned irrelevant or empty result sets—nothing with verifiable subscriber counts or credible links I could cite (per our anti-hallucination policy). To keep the data accurate, we'll need to pull it directly from one of these sources:

1. Open each channel's YouTube page in Chrome (while signed out) and capture the displayed subscriber count plus a timestamped screenshot.
2. Alternatively, check SocialBlade's live subscriber trackers for both channels; grab the numbers, note the URL, and timestamp it.
3. Once we have those verified counts, I'll build the full markdown report (1500+ words, executive summary, recommendations, timelines) as originally scoped.

Let me know which of those two paths you want, or drop the subscriber figures (with source links) and I'll complete the deliverable immediately.
